Billie, Promises

take off those rose tinted glasses put away your impulsive dreams our story's only just started do you get what I mean because we don't wanna run before we walk there's time to see us running we should think before we talk cos I feel it coming if rules were meant to break and love can fade away
I've been there once before I gotta know for sure
the hardest things to keep are promises some things are best left unspoken until the time is right some hearts are easily broken tempting fate with sweet lies I don't wanna run before we walk
cos I feel it coming if rules were meant to break and love can fade away
right now it's clear to see I'm where I want to be I think it's safe to say we both feel the same just as long as weve got truth and honesty baby all you gotta do is show me what I mean to you repeat chorus to fade
