

Billy "Crash" Craddock, Another Woman

Only one thing can make you get over a woman another woman
Well it happened and it's happened again
There I was all alone again and searching for a way to get over her
Losers now they're all the same they drink a lot and they tell the same old stories
You've heard them all before
My story I told it so right I drew a picture of my last night with her
And then you said honey I know what's wrong
You're lonely but you're not alone someone like me might take you home
And it touched me all over when you said
Only one thing can make you get over a woman
Oh another woman can pick you up and make you feel right
And only one thing can make you feel better than a woman
Oh another woman to get you through another night
[steel]
You found me you pulled me on through only a miracle that you could do
Yes it happened when you touched me now I know
Only one thing can make you...
(Another woman) to get you through another night
