

Billy Ray Cyrus, She's Not Crying Anymore

She used to cry when I'd come home late she couldn't buy the lies I told
All she wanted was to be needed
Someone that she could call her own
The love I know I took for granted Untill she walked out of my door too little too late to say I'm sorry cuz she's not crying anymore

Chorus

She's not crying anymore
She aint lonely any longer
There's a smile upon her face
A new love takes my place
she's not crying anymore
I hear she's really doing well now She's picked herself up off the ground
I wasn't there when I was needed
But I was there to let her down
Sometimes you know I feel so furious
IF I knew then what I know now Another tear would never fall cuz I'd give our love my all if we could work things out some how

Chorus

(Repeat twice)

There's a smile upon her face...she's not crying anymore!!
