

Billy Walker, Man Who Had Everything

I've thought I needed things that I could buy with gold
I scorn the treasure of her love my arms could hold
A love that made me richer than a king yes I'm the man who had everything
I had a dream that I could live for a heart that I could claim
Yes I'm the man who had everything
I had a love worth more than diamonds the best that life could bring
Yes I'm the man who had everything

Now I drive a fancy car that's all my own each night I dine on wine and caviar alone
But since I lost her love through tears I see yes I'm the man who had everything
I had a dream that I could live for...
Yes I'm the man who had everything yes I'm the man who had everything
