

Bing Crosby, You're-Still-In-My-Heart

I'm like a dreamer who's awakened
Out of dreams of happiness,
And finds himself alone.

You stole away leaving me forsaken,
Like the lonely dreamer in the dark,
When his dreams are gone.

You found a new love,
And forgot your true love.

Whoever you love,
You're still in my heart.

Didn't you grieve me?
Didn't you deceive me?
And, yet, believe me,
You're still in my heart.

The night we parted and said we were through,
I didn't mind somehow.
Then my heart started to cry out for you.
Things are so different now.

I can't caress you.
Other arms possess you,
But heaven bless you.
You're still in my heart.