

Binocular, You

you....you're everything I ever wanted to be, when you're here with me I just wanna lose me, in your love that rises to the sun and says you're everything I ever could think of

In silence we rise and we fall
here for today, then we're gone

But you
You've always been my only real friend
I said you, I know you're always be there til the end
You may say, I'm holding on to something from the past Cause they know, nothing in this life will never last

In silence we rise and we fall
Here for today, then we're gone
The time that we take to look back
These days and these moments have past

I've running down the mountain side along
I've been stuck out in the rain, in the cold
I've been going down on the streets
I've been climbing up the mountain

Cause you
You're everything I ever wanted to
Be, when you're here with me I just wanna lose

In silence we rise and we fall
Here for today, then we're gone
The time that we take to look back
These days and these moments have past

Then we're gone...
