

Black, Better Letting Go

Lately we've been acting like strangers
We never show our feelings
Or say the things we mean
It's hard to admit
That maybe it's time to quit pretending
?Cause we both know
It's better letting go
There's no point hanging on
To what used to be
(?Cause we both know)
Why can't we see?
(We both know)
It's better letting go
It's crazy to sit here in silence
Counting off the seconds
The beating of our hearts
When there's no more to give
There's no easy way to live together
We both know
It's better letting go
It's time to walk away
And start again
(?Cause we both know)
This makes no sense
(We both know)
It's better letting go
No matter how we fake it
This love has faded
The feeling has gone
It's time to move on
And there?s no good looking back
It hurts but we both know it baby
It's better letting go
There's no point hanging on
To what used to be
(?Cause we both know)
Why can't we see?
(We both know)
It's better letting go
(It's better letting go)
It's time to walk away
And start again
(?Cause we both know)
This makes no sense
(We both know)
It's better letting go
It's better letting go
It's better letting go