

Black Buddafly, If I Wasn't Me

What should I do, what should I say
How will this feeling go away
How can I hide what's in my mind
And why does it matter anyway
He let me go and I'm alone
Don't want hear the drama, tears and all
Want him to say I will be okay
That's what I go through everyday
And it won't get better no, it keeps getting worse
Oh and I won't never know, he's got to hear I'm calling
I'm calling out your name
Wishing you would do the same
But I know that it's too late to stop the rain
Done have crying helplessly
Fighting all the memories
Wondering where I would be If I wasn't me
Would I be near, would I be far
Would I be in someone else's arms
Would I be free and happily
And not with the man of my dreams
Could I be somehow nowhere that I am now
Oh I just can't imagine this
No I won't know what if and still I can't help to think and wish
They say that things will get better, I will have with you
They happened whatever, nothing's the same without you so I'm calling
I'm calling out your name
Wishing you would do the same
But I know that it's too late to stop the rain
Done have crying helplessly
Fighting all the memories
Wondering where I would be If I wasn't me
Now looking back on what we had
And all of the things that I can't forget
It's like a movie playing in my head
And there ain't nothing to stop it
Wanna make it through the rain
Someone take me, take me away
I'm calling out your name
Wishing you would do the same
But I know that it's too late to stop the rain
Done have crying helplessly
Fighting all the memories
Wondering where I would be If I wasn't me
