

Black Lab, Mine Again

there's a place I used to go there's a world I used to know there was a light and it was you every word I say is true I say -

every day I will wait - till you're mine again I will die every day - till you're mine again there's no words to explain - no beginning and no end I will dream, I will pray - you'll be mine again

I can see you dressed in red all the secret things you said lying barefoot in the grass now my heart is in your hands your hands -

every day I will wait - till you're mine again
I will die every day - till you're mine again

it's just time that runs between us it's the ocean underneath us it's the picture that won't fade away every day I will wait - you'll be mine again brings me close to the day - you'll be mine again

there's no words to explain - no beginning and no end
