

Black River, Silence (acoustic)

Another day of fear
Another faced without you
Another day so weird
'Cause I'm lost without you
In the land of overwhelming grief
My days move slowly on
I'm a prisoner of never-ending silence
(The) silence (you) left behind you
How I grieve
Whispers in my ear
Words unsaid surround me
I still feel you, feel so near
And I'm so lost without you
All that is gone
Will remain forever
In the deepest silence
Of my heart
And now I know
You are gone forever
You are gone but let me dream
Oh silence
The only gift from you
In my heart
Heart's soon die, deprived of hope
I am dying
Without you
Come and hold me now I'm falling
Stay and save me now I'm falling
I'm falling down the empty silence
Your silence
Oh, let me dream of the words unspoken
Of your hands and warm embrace
Of what I never got from you
Of our being together
Let me dream to set me free
At least just let me dream
Of those words unspoken
To dream to set me free
In never-ending silence
I dream to set me free
In never-ending silence
The world is tumbling down
Without you
