Black Sabbath, Glory Ride

Winged with steel they fill the air
The soldiers of fortune will ride
In the sights of the enemy's gun
Those who have taken their oaths tonight
Are well prepared they know they'll
Do or die even if it's suicide

Let's take a chance As the skies will Burn tonite Wasted lives and spirits run free On the wings of no return

Dressed to kill where eagles dare The fate of a nation's at hand Is this the answer to the prayers Come the dawn, thru the blood Red skies return with tears In their eyes, and they Recall thou shalt not kill

And in the morning They'll take a hero's bow And make the ever lasting flight

Hear them calling up above all Across the skies Hear them calling up above from The other side

Here them call!

Let's take a chance As the skies will burn tonite Wasted lives and spirits run free On the wings of no return

Let's take a chance As the skies will burn tonite Wasted lives and spirits run free On the wings of no return
