Blacklisted, Transparent / Opaque

Loose lips have sunken our ships We don't need to be reminded of it The bridges we walk on have been burned Just another lesson learned You cannot discredit me I've been following destiny And I've still got a bone to pick with whoever called me a heretic Miserable misunderstood You see through everything I said What makes you want to rely on me? Living through my ups and downs I'm just trying to balance out Not on a crusade to save the world I just want to be heard I won't live with my head in my hands Though I'm too tired to understand Hopelessly hopeless and out of luck Please be quiet you selfish f**k Miserably misunderstood You see through everything I say What makes you want to rely on me? Let's let the music speak for itself