

Blacklisted, What's Wrong With George?

He hides his thoughts buried so deep inside
In the very back of his mind
Everything he can't let others know and prays that no one finds
He has reasons for everything
In his mind it's all justified
Always so easily embrace
The mirror is just two faced
It hurts sometimes, but he liked the taste
Didn't want to hurt anyone
So he looked to the blind one above
He'll need answers in time
For now he'll just stand tongue tied
What he feels
It hurts
And it kills
His mind stays concealed
His thoughts stay unrevealed