Blake Babies, Picture Perfect

She's the window to my soul to let in the sun Like two pieces of a whole could truly become one She's my favorite shade of blue The verdant glow of spring Every color, every hue Could be my everything Can you picture perfect? Can you make the moment stay? Take a picture, perfect I know it can always be like this day She's the moment in the song that shivers down my spine When it lasts the whole night long it's easy to define Can you picture perfect? Can you make the moment stay? Take a picture, perfect I know it can always be like this day
