

Blatz, Blatz To The Future

walk through the filth you will find me there needle hanging from my vein I own you I own your emotions i can make you love i can make you hate you are within me you are within me we are one the punk rock scene is big bucks now you headliners with your gaurantees just having fun aint enough anymore you got demographics to please it's time to make a change and redefine our roots we're sick and tired of punk rockers playing in buisness suits it's time to change
time to change
time to change your atitude
it's time to change
time to change your life you used to be angry now your just bored your bands worthless wasted and poor stop masturbating and break up already if you want money so bad become a whore sure the whole thing started on the majors emi and warner ruled but now the indies are wanna-bes: major distrobution dude!
