Blaze Bayley, Speed Of Light

All the force of nature, chaos and the death of hope Don't resist them and accept the death of all you know You walk alone and face the darkness you will be reborn

Rediscover your existence in it's purest form

Searching for the reasons why, will you know when it's your time?

Time flashes before your eyes

Watch everything change at the speed of light

The speed of light

As the future casts a shadow into here and now

Time tells a secret whisper it without a sound You trust yourself your instincts or the answers of mankind

Will you ever have the strength to leave this world and find

Searching for the reasons why will you know when it's your time?

Time flashes before your eyes

Watch everything change at the speed of light

Time flashes before your eyes

Watch everything change at the speed of light

The speed of light

All the force of nature, chaos and the death of hope Don't resist them and accept the death of all you know

You walk alone and face the darkness you will be reborn

Rediscover your existence in it's purest form

Searching for the reasons why, will you know when it's your time?

Time flashes before your eyes

Watch everything change at the speed of light

Time flashes before your eyes

Watch everything change at the speed of light

The speed of light