

Bleach, Astronomy

All I know
Is that this falling star will die
For a moment light the sky
And lead me home
I don't know
Why this task has been so hard
We've spent out time apart
But not alone

This is what I have been given
I hope that you can
I hope that you can
Understand there are reasons beyond ours
The creator holds the stars up in the sky
But you are by far bright and shining star
In the sky tonite

This is what I have been given
The hardest part is living
With leaving you alone
Alone alone, we're not alone

Just like all the rest of them
I can't bring you down
You're a million miles from here
But you are by far the brightest shining star
In my sky tonite

This is what I have been given
The hardest part is living
With leaving you alone