Bleach, Cannonball

The world is drained, marked me like Cain. Entered the fane of worldly sane. I worshipped me, but now I'm free. My life's a gift from him, to him I'll lift.

All love and joy and peace has broke through to me. I'll let his love break down these walls, like a cannonball.

Now I can breathe, I feel so free. And I can see, He works even through me. His grace abounds when I fall down. My life's a gift from Him, to Him I'll lift.

The world is drained, marked you like Cain. Entered the fane of worldly sane. You worshipped you, what will you do. Your life's a gift from him, to Him you better lift.