

Bleed The Dream, Sarcastic Farewell

Sometimes you've got to learn to let go

No one here is really brave
(They always think so small)
I know there's something out there more for me
This town just makes me hate the sky
(It's always gray outside)
And all I wanted was to pass you by

Why does my life just fall apart?
When I listen to my heart
You know I can't leave you behind
Just keep those memories in your mind

You know there's nothing left to prove
(And even if I could)
You know there's nothing I can do
This time I've got to walk away
(I don't belong here)
You know I'll think about it everyday

Why does my life just fall apart?
When I listen to my heart
You know I can't leave you behind
Just keep those memories in your mind

Sometimes you've got to learn to let go
