

Bleed The Dream, Shattered Memories

So how long do you really think
I'd let you keep me here for I'd run away
And how long would you sit around and watch me waste my tears
Before you walk away
I love your average faith

And there's nothing left but shattered memories
Of what we left behind, left behind
And the greatest will forever follow me
Forever left behind, left behind

There's no time to be ridiculous
And piss into the wind, unless you wanted to
There's no words that could ever make the sorrows disappear
Because I know it's through
And I love your average faith

And the greatest will forever follow me
Forever left behind, forever left behind
Forever and ever, forever

And the greatest will forever follow me
