

Bleeding Through, Just Another Pretty Face

Infect with all dissolved memories of one
Why did you care, when you never cared before?
Why'd you care, you never cared?
Why'd you care, you never cared?
Why'd you care, you never cared?
Why'd you care, you never cared?
Why'd you care, you never cared?
Why'd you care, you never cared before?

I've become an instrument of your twisted flashbacks
Still you condemn me for my past mistakes

A curse to your saviours will
You stare so emotionless, but still I fall down
Your heart dies with every breath of this poison
Annihilation
I cannot, I will not, I won't forget
Now I must stand for who I am

And every picture I see is of you and every time you cry
Because your past can't run away
And you can't, you can't run away from this, and you cannot hide
You can't hide from this, it won't begin
You can't hide from this, it won't begin
You can't hide from this, it won't begin
You can't hide from this, it won't begin
It won't begin
It won't begin
It won't begin