

Blind Iris, Drifting Soul

You were always seconds from fame
Like a burning sunset you were breathe taking Stunning and your engine burnt clean
A riot of curves, a perfect reality
Soon innocence left you unpaid
Made a few friends and your directions changed

Drifting soul
Tell me where did you go
I found your image
Like a lost halo
Angels cry
Because there's stars in your eyes
As you lie naked in the dark sunshine

Growing up I never thought I would see
Your future exhibit enhanced by technology
A vibrant leaf tossed in the breeze
Take another shot and you do what they please
Your innocence,
A picture fades
Forget a few details

Situations change

Drifting soul
Tell me where did you go
I found your image
And you're lost halo
Angels cry
Because there's stars in your eyes
As you lie naked in the dark sunshine

Illustrate, all that choices you make
When they show up in my head, my mind fabricates
An image that explodes, a gun that unloads
A lie that pulls you in just to leave you low

Drifting soul
Tell me where did you go
I found your image
Like a lost halo
Angels cry
Because there's stars in your eyes
As you lie naked in the dark sunshine
