

Blinded Colony, Discrown The Holy

Fade away in cold memories
Nothing forfills the needs of a naked soul
Walls of emptiness speaking without a voice, like a dismal ending revealed beyond the sky

A dead eternity is transforming into life
Without a trace or pattern ever known to mankind
An awakening of immortal souls that deny the cross
A pulse that strikes religion in a grieving sigh

We will blind your all-seeing eye
We will end your pandemonium
A pain sent from another world,
The true evil lies above
Confront your chosen destiny
Transfigure the christian God
Discrown the holy
A pain sent from another world,
The true evil lies above
Confront your chosen destiny

Saturate their need for obedience
Spew out your words of salvation
Eventually, all your words will die
A total purgation of your heaven

A dead eternity is transforming into life
Without a trace or pattern ever known to mankind
An awakening of immortal souls that deny the cross

A pain sent from another world,
The true evil lies above
Confront your chosen destiny
Transfigure the christian God
Discrown the holy
A pain sent from another world,
The true evil lies above
Confront your chosen destiny

Holy words without reverence
An enigmatic trace of mankinds fall
A dirge for survival
but it's far to late

A God of treason kept alive by lies
A surreptitious Bible of no value
Your perversion of life has ended
You're dethroned and discrowned at last

We will blind your all-seeing eye
We will end your pandemonium
A pain sent from another world,
The true evil lies above
Confront your chosen destiny
Transfigure the christian God
Discrown the holy
A pain sent from another world,
The true evil lies above
Confront your chosen destiny