

Blink The Star, I Am A Fraction

You look west, that's where everyone told you
Pioneers will most certainly find you
It's been too long without it
His old man likes the song where they tell you
Be a creep, just let anyone sell you
I woke up with the sun on my shoulder
Yesterday felt a thousand years older
It's been too long without it
Could it be right to doubt it?
I could wait, I could watch it at the movies
I could say, there is nothing that could move me

I slipped out with the wind at my coattails
Sunday noon with the dirt on my face still
Seven hours and it feels like a segue
You can lie but you're never the same
It's been too long without it
You've been so weird throughout it
Say we're safe in the bosom of hellfire
You can shock me with your science and live wires
All aglow, we're so pretty in action
I feel good even though I'm a fraction
