

Bloodbath, Treasonous

I learned the lord is my master though his name I no more chant I removed my silver crucifix harken not to the preacher's rant My only bible has been burned that was the last time I kneeled Nothing in church I ever learned only to my selfish urge I'd yield

I am traitorous
I am treasonous

Sworn allegiance I desert to sin and lust I convert My unbelief prevaricates
the abode of hell my soul awaits

So I burn
oh they feed me flames
At the stake I taste the merciless fire
so I burn
Oh but the devil knows
I shall rise renewed from the ashes of my death

I was throbbing in my desire holy doctrines I no more knew When i was praying at the altar the words all seemed too few Tempted to sell my soul my mind corrupted with vanity Obsessed to reach my goal enticed beyond the gates of insanity

Perverse intent in my mind high on deceit and what I can blind Heresy is my guilty creed in perjury engulfed in greed
