

Bloodbound, Night Touches You

Power lines are singing in the stark cold winter air Something draws me there
The light is pure and clear
Our lives are muddled here
The night is never there when you need it and I need it
To cover up my tears
They fall and break like glass Night touches you forever
I listen as they sing
Part the cold grey winter skies
Fill my life with light Without you here tonight
I fall and break like glass