

Bloodflowerz, Cold Rain

i fall, stand up, no i don't never give up but fear, cold tears, creep like poison to my heart i run, try to reach the bright sun i call your name in the falling rain i hit the ground 'cause gravity keeps me down a real bad trip when all i try to keep runs through my hands like dusty sand till i understand i'll ride this turning circle show me ways in the haze, show me the place where the sun always shines go inside cold rain is falling down again i'm sailing on dark flows cold rain is falling down on me i'm sailing dark flows

i still believe, but today i need relief i await the light, a new day follows after every night so go inside
i feel the flood, my raging blood
'can feel you sad cold fear is creeping near but i know i have to go... inside and the wind blows colder...