

Blue Foundation, Embers

A western sky is glowing

Calling off the day

Fading rays of live sunsets

Caressing my feet on my way

A shade in the horizon

Quivers in the haze

Whisper near right by my ear

And these are the words that he said:

If you love your woman up to the maximum

Tell her fi hold on, hold on strong

Orange eyes of embers

Gleaming in the night

Guard us until break of dawn

Blessing the ground where we stay

The eastern sky is glowing now

In reddish shades of grey

With promises of life and love

And I wanna cherish the day

If you love your woman up to the maximum

Tell her fi hold on, hold on strong