

Blue October, Let The Sandman Descend

Reaching out to save you
Arms across the shore
Holding on to something
With a reason that's long gone before

The search is back on again
I offer my call

Near or far
I should have known
You'd go
Right from the start
Don't know where you are
Don't know where you've gone

Waking up the morning
Chasing you away
The sun is vapourising
Every moment I'm longing to save

(For you) The search is back on again
You captured my thought

Near or far
I should have known
You'd go
Right from the start
Don't know where you are
Don't know where you've gone