

Blue Rodeo, Trust Yourself

someday soon
and I don't know when your little world
will come crashing in don't think twice I'll be around
turn your back someone's gonna let you down you know that it's true nobody led you on they left that to you
now you'll be alone
when the sun comes up
with your tattered little dreams
and a broken cup
then you'll have to
trust yourself
and don't believe in anymore lies

you waste your time
think too much
really make a mess
of the things you touch poor little bird
with a broken wing
better look around now you know your losing everything it's just a game
thought you had it all lined up but somehow that's changed now you'll have to run
and not get caught
and you'll have to hide if you like it or not
then you'll have to
trust yourself
and don't believe in anymore lies

someday soon
and it won't be long you'll ring the bell
but they'll all be gone they took your jewels and your statues too
left you with a pile of things you never learned how to use well here it comes again you showed us where it all began well here's where it ends and you'll be alone

when the sun comes up
tattered little dreams
and a broken cup
then you'll have to trust yourself and don't believe in anymore
trust yourself
and don't believe in anymore
trust yourself
and don't believe in anymore lies
yeah yeah yeah
yeah yeah yeah
yeah yeah yeah