

Blue, When the war comes

When the bones of our oppressors have turned to dust; And the cause that we serve rules the world