

Bob Catley, Meaning Of Love

With your dreams I could climb every mountain
With your love I could tear down the walls
With your heart I could fly like an eagle
Break these chains when you call

You feed the fire that burns deep inside
I feel you love growing higher and higher
You are the light, the dark and the reason
You are the flame to my fire

When the wind cries your name
I'm on the wings of an angel
I'm caught in a moment in time
In your arms
I'm on the golden wings of romance with you

You're the meaning of love
You touched my heart and now I can't let you go
When the words don't say enough
You give it all, you're the meaning of love

In your eyes I see the light and the wonder
In your voice I hear love
You are the dream, the life in the springtime
You are the starlight above

Like a shadow in the daylight
I'll be there by your side
And I'm never going to let you go
In your arms
I'm on the golden wings of romance with you

You're the meaning of love
You touched my heart and now I can't let you go
When the words don't say enough
You give it all, you're the meaning of love

And if the stars refuse to shine
I'll feel you holding me close to you

You're the meaning of love
You touched my heart and now I can't let you go
When the words don't say enough
You give it all, you're the meaning of love

You're the meaning of love
You touched my heart and now I can't let you go
When the words don't say enough
You give it all, you're the meaning of love