

Bob Catley, The End Of Summer (Galadriel's Theme)

I've searched the earth to find you
I'll break the chains that bind you
Wash away your tears with rain
This life's array astounds you
Moonlight cascades around you
Light betrays your angel face

As the eyes dry and wither
The blindness lingers on
But I still see your light now your gone

Just like the sun, setting on my shoulder
Galadriel is the embers of the night
And there could be no other
The shadows run and the days grow colder
Galadriel is the tender autumn light
She is the end of summer

I praise the day I found you
I'll build my world around you
Time can wait beyond the pain
I'll take the strain that drowns you
Heartbreak, the fray surrounds you
Miles away, the signs remain

You and I cross the river
We stride the ebb and flow
For the secrets mean more than you know

Just like the sun, setting on my shoulder
Galadriel is the embers of the night
And there could be no other
The shadows run and the days grow colder
Galadriel is the tender autumn light
She is the end of summer

You and I cross the river
We stride the ebb and flow
For the secrets mean more than you know

Just like the sun, setting on my shoulder
Galadriel is the embers of the night
And there could be no other
The shadows run and the days grow colder
Galadriel is the tender autumn light
She is the end of summer

The shadows run and the days grow colder
Galadriel is the tender autumn light
She is the end of summer