Bob Dylan, Beyond The Horizon

(Bob Dylan)

Beyond the horizon, behind the sun At the end of the rainbow life has only begun In the long hours of twilight 'neath the stardust above Beyond the horizon it is easy to love

I'm touched with desire What don't I do? Through flame and through fire I'll build my world around you

Beyond the horizon, in the Springtime or Fall Love waits forever, for one and for all

Beyond the horizon, across the divide 'Round about midnight, we'll be on the same side Down in the valley the water runs cold Beyond the horizon someone prayed for your soul

My wretched heart is pounding I felt an angel's kiss My memories are drowning In mortal bliss

Beyond the horizon, at the end of the game Every step that you take, I'm walking the same

Beyond the horizon, the night winds blow The theme of a melody from many moons ago The bells of St. Mary, how sweetly they chime Beyond the horizon I found you just in time

It's dark and it's dreary I've been pleading in vain I'm wounded, I'm weary My repentance is plain

Beyond the horizon o'r the treacherous sea I still can't believe that you have set aside your love for me

Beyond the horizon, 'neath crimson skies In the soft light of morning I'll follow you with my eyes Through countries and kingdoms and temples of stone Beyond the horizon right down to the bone

It's the right time of the season Somebody there always cared There's always a reason Why someone's life has been spared

Beyond the horizon, the sky is so blue I've got more than a lifetime to live lovin' you