

Bob Schneider, The World Exploded Into Love

There's a universe that can't be seen
It's just a feeling if you know what I mean
A delectable dimension undetectable by sight
Fill up your heart in the dead of the night
Some say it's an astral plane
Can't be described
Can't be explained

The world exploded into love all around me
The world exploded into love all around me
And every time I take a look around me
I have to smile

Is our love just an illusion
There's no need to figure it out
Separation exists not in your love filled heart, only in your mind
Real stories all around you
Even now it surrounds you
Even now I feel the power

The world exploded into love all around me
The world exploded into love all around me
And every time I take a look around me
I have to smile

I have to smile
I have to smile