

Bob Seger, The Answer

The answer's in the question Will you be home late again Will you find the courage When truth comes
The heart's a lonely hunter It never quite feels safe The devil's in the details The thrill is in the chase

The answer's in the question You must leave this all behind