

Bobby Bare, Just In Case (A Night Like This One

I watch the sky that brightens with the dawn
And I know this night with you is almost gone
And I memorize each moment of the special thing that's been
Just in case a night like this one never comes again
A daylight call the rest I struggle through it's changed into a magic time with you
Why once again my hands and eyes take your beauty in
Just in case a night like this one never comes again
It's true we talk of future things to be but beyond this dawn's too far for me to see
So hold me now and love me before the night time ends
Just in case a night like this one never comes again
