

Bobo in White Wooden Houses, Road To Move On

we travelled for so long but now our journey has coming to an end you shouldn't say it's all over but something new has to begin every road has a turning point we're on that road to move on my love I wish you well you own a special place in my broken heart don't tell me it's only regret please tell me you will understand

every road has a turning point
we're on that road to move on