Bobo in White Wooden Houses, Road To Move C

we travelled for so long but now our journey has coming to an end you should'nt say it's all over but something new has to begin every road has a turning point we're on that road to move on my love I wish you well you own a spezial place in my broken heart don't tell me it's only regret please tell me you will understand

every road has a turning point we're on that road to move on