

Bobo in White Wooden Houses, White Wooden H

Now you can't believe
it's gonna be your way
the years went by it seems you won't get nowhere you ask for a way out you are at a loss
and you would better run away to hide your face in a crowd you don't know what's going on you're looking for a new adventur
I say
the white wooden houses
are still burning
Now you can't believe
it's gonna be your way
your head is spinning 'round a million lights are in the sky the love came too easy and now it's too hard
and you would better run away there are so many lonely hearts waiting for someone you're looking for a new adventure
I say
the white wooden houses
are still burning