Bodyjar, Call To Arms

It's only fair that I should warn you The day will come when You know you've got to Start coming around and Say what you're thinking

Turn your back pretend you don't care Saying nothing will get you nowhere How can you believe a word they were saying?

This is a call to arms If we get it right This is a call to arms Don't be afraid to fight for your life

What you hear and what you're reading Soon become what you're believing Are you coming around to my way of thinking?

You spend your life You try to make it Did they teach you a lot? Do you fake it? Never tell you enough to know what the truth is
