Bodyjar, Stab

Even though it's not true It's keeping me awake at night I don't wanna hurt, But I can't see a way to fight it

I've heard it twice today and, They're just trying to break it down They're being carefull though, What goes around will come around again

Even though it's not too late It's that you think you're fooling me I hate you

Keep your conversation next time

Keeping to yourself and, Lying to your friends and me You've got no respect, You're searching for some company

Take a favour from me Never pay back what you owe I keep the hatred, you keep nothing inside, Let it go

Even though it's not too late It's that you think you're fooling me I hate you