

Bodyjar, Time

I can see clearly now he's gone
He made you so uneasy
Before you changed your mind
I couldn't go on that way

You made it so hard for me will you ever know just why
But now you changed your mind will you make it hard again
Time after time Time after time Time after time

You said you wouldn't but I know that you didn't care
I was never there We can start trying now and you can stop crying now
We know that time will tell us what we want
Now look how far we've come we always went our way
The time we're waiting on will soon come our way
Time after time Time after time Time after time