

Boiler Room, No Reason

Life's misfortunes always scorn us
Flesh and blood we are
Pain is certain in a world that
Has no guarantee

Whatever fate may be

I know, I know, I know
I can't find a way out in this world

Can't break your fall
And it's always something
There is no reason
Can't break that mold
Of the freaky things that happen
There is no reason
Breakin' it down
I said we're breakin' it down

When your time's up, you might die young
Live while you can
Why are we here, is the question
Can you please explain

Whatever fate may be

I know, I know, I know
I can't find a way out in this world

Can't break your fall
And it's always something
There is no reason
Can't break that mold
Of the freaky things that happen
There is no reason

I took a look inside, I told myself a lie
And still I wonder why. who's to blame
There's no forgiveness here. why must we live in fear
Who holds the cards in this unfair game?

I know, I know, I know
I can't find a way out in this world

Can't break your fall
And it's always something
There is no reason
Can't break that mold
Of the freaky things that happen
There is no reason
Breakin' it down
I said we are breakin' it down

Can't find a rhyme or reason
Can't find a rhyme or reason
There ain't no time nor a season
Can't find a rhyme or reason
