

BOKKA, A Spell

you are there hiding in the rain you're in the shadows when the clouds are gone you're in my head when I am feeling down my little darling, you are more than home

I will hold your hand when darkness gets you
I will climb the highest tree for you
I will put a spell on those who want to hurt you and I'll keep bad dreams away from you you are the air when I need a break you are a mystery that I want to solve you are the glue when I fall apart my little darling, you're where I belong where I belong

I will hold your hand when darkness gets you
I will climb the highest tree for you
I will put a spell on those who want to hurt you
and I'll keep bad dreams away from you