Bon Iver, Minnesota, WI

Armour let it through, borne the arboretic truth you kept posing Sat down in the suit, fixed on up it wasn't you by finished closing

Ramble in the roots, had the marvel, moved the proof be knee-led fine's glowing Storing up the clues, it had it's sullen blue bruised through by showing

Settle past a patience where wishes and your will are spilling pictures Water's running through in the valley where we grew to write this scripture:

Never gonna break Never gonna break Never gonna break Never gonna break Not for a part in any gamut of the dark

Doubled in the toes annex it, it minute closed in the morning Did not lose it in the stack's stow, I'm a lay that call back on ya

You know it won't beseech you, we're laying in an open field I will let you grow, no need to know this

So carry on my dear, what is clear up in the daylight is we're hung here Fall is coming soon, a new year for the moon and the Hmong here

Never gonna break Never gonna break Never gonna break Never gonna break All that it seems Bellows tracing through the streams

Never gonna break Never gonna break Never gonna break Never gonna break All at it's seams Swallows swelling for the beams
