

Bonnie Owens, Everything That's Fastened Down

I knew you when you never drank the wine

But now you had to have it all the time

You don't even try to hide the things you do

Everything that's fastened down is comin' loose

Everything is tearin' at the scene breaking up our home and all my dreams

I once believe we'd make it so I put my trust in you

But everything that's fastened down is comin' loose

[ steel ]

The home we built jst crumbling in your hands because I have devided just won't stand

You'd let the wine lead you to cheatin' to

So everything that's fastened down is comin' loose

Everything is tearin'...
