

Boo Radleys, The Future Is Now

It's good to belong
The dead man's clothes that you wear like a medal of honour
Why bother?
These clothes do not fit me
I was born for today and the day after
Year after year
All your classicisms and history don't impress me
There's no time like the present
Place the displace, enchant the disenchanted
Use your power
Millenium fever
Just another way of bringing us together
Never never
All your classicisms and history don't impress me
I've got a lot to do
I still the same pull
(The future is now)
So come out wherever you are
Hiding in the decades, people
You're not stupid, you must know the future is now
A dome is no home
A monument will not keep us warm in winter
Lose your fear
All your classicisms and history don't impress me
I've got a lot to do
I still the same pull
(The future is now)
So come out wherever you are
Hiding in the decades, people
You're not stupid, you must know the future is now
All your classicisms and history don't impress me
The future is here, so glad you made it here
