

Boo Radleys, Twinside

It thinks it's right when it knows it's wrong
It's been like this right from day one
It don't need anyone to be its guide
But it needs someone on its side

And I know that I can't make up my mind
I can feel it there's two of me inside, twinside

Make way for the end of frustration
Make may for the united front
One thought for a new situation

When it gets so it cannot walk
Can't stand up or even talk
Like a secret you cannot hide
It feels it kicking deep inside

And I know that I can't make up my mind
I can feel it there's two of me inside, twinside

Make way for the end of frustration
Make may for the united front
One thought for a new situation

When it feels ready to explode
It just sits quiet without a word
When the right thinks it knows best
The left will go for something else
