

Bouncing Souls, So Jersey

The sun shines brightly on a Jersey afternoon,
He walked in his parents footsteps on his way home from school.
Those ties that were so sweet also burned under his feet
Now he's ready to walk a path that is new
And he can't turn back,
He can't turn back,
He can't turn back.

Burning through the clouds,
He made it all alone,
Betting everything on himself tonight.

She's driving down the shore on a Jersey afternoon,
She's driving down the same old roads her parents took her through
Hypnotized by those broken lines
Broken records lost in time.
She's turning down the road that is new.
And she can't turn back,
No she can't turn back,
And she can't turn back.

Stepping through the darkness into the light,
Betting everything on herself tonight.

Stepping out of Asbury Lanes in a midnight snow,
The skeleton of this old town feels like it's coming alive.
Bryan said "Corruption! New Jersey Roots!"
The songs were the keys to the engines of our growing up.

And we wanna say thanks to the music in our lives,
Forgive ourselves for all the lies.

Send some love to all the lonely, don't forget we're all one family.
Thanks to the music in our lives for helping us to survive.
Lost in one lonely dream born to run and live free!

The sun shines brightly on us, you (???)
Walking in our own footsteps, a search for something more.

We can't turn back,
No we can't turn back,
We can't turn back.

Stepping through the darkness into the light,
We're betting everything,
We're betting everything,
We're betting everything on ourselves tonight.